What is Sciendo?

Sciendo is a leading provider of publishing services and solutions to academic and professional organisations as well as individual authors.

We are a partner to over 500 titles, serving 300 institutions in 40 different countries, publishing journals, books, conference proceedings and other publications in English, German, French, Italian, Spanish and Polish.

We disseminate new and archival volumes and make them available in the Open Access or paid access model. Many of these publications are indexed by Clarivate, Scopus and PubMed.

Publish with us

Sciendo is not just another service or technology vendor. The company is a part of the De Gruyter Group, a renowned academic publisher with a company history of over 270 years. De Gruyter publishes more than 1,100 books and 16,000 journal articles every year, and has a backlist of approximately 100,000 published titles.

Being a part of this publishing cluster, Sciendo can offer you world-class publishing solutions and services tried and tested on our own journals and books.

Hosting and distribution platform

The publishing platform we provide is one of the most advanced on the market, developed on an ongoing basis to ensure that our clients receive the very best solutions and functions available. It receives 30,000 visits daily and over 9 million visits per year and is offered in several language versions: English, German, Polish, French, Italian and Spanish.

The readers reach us through direct browser searching as well as through global distribution channels including the libraries we send the content to, and the abstracting and indexing services Sciendo manages and administers.

ARTICLE PROCESSING CHARGE MODEL

Open Access journals with sufficient Impact Factor and indexing can publish with Sciendo without having to pay any up-front fees. The charges collected from authors are used to cover general publishing costs, with any surplus transferred to the journal.

Sciendo's publishing fees are highly cost effective, meaning societies and journal owners are able to generate income through this model.

SUBSCRIPTION MANAGEMENT

For journals published in the traditional model we provide a full subscription management service. Journals cover our publishing fees and retain a majority of subscription net revenues.

Publishing solutions for academic books

Books published by Sciendo benefit from a professional hosting platform as well as global distribution channels that include libraries, retailers, content aggregators, abstracting databases and discovery services worldwide.

OPTIONAL SERVICES

Sciendo offers a wide range of additional publishing solutions that authors can pick and choose, depending on their requirements. We can polish and arrange the text, design a professional cover and book layout, and provide advanced marketing services, such as a book announcement campaign.

SALES AND DISTRIBUTION

Sciendo sells ebooks and print-on-demand books directly through the platform, and through various retailers, wholesalers and content distributors, ensuring global availability.

Services for conference organizers and proceedings editors

Our solutions for conference proceedings are available in three packages: Standard, Classic, and Premier. In addition, we provide also the event and abstract management system.

We charge per each published volume per conference. The event management system is paid per participant or through a revenue share. The total charge depends on the package chosen and on the selection of additional services.

As a separate unit, conference organizers can buy also the abstract management system to collect, edit and handle submitted papers.

White Label Publishing House

Sciendo has a special offer for institutions that wish to publish all or most of their publications (such as journals, books, dissertations etc.) with a publishing partner in English, German, French, Spanish, Italian or Polish.

The model applies to new publications and to already published books and back journal volumes.

At no cost to the institution, Sciendo designs and manages the publishing house website. The role of the institution is to select and channel journals and book proposals for publishing partnership, as well as to promote collaboration among its faculties.

The institution decides on the publishing package and the access model applied to each title. The total charge depends on the selection of packages and additional solutions.

Standard and Opt-in Services

MANUSCRIPT EDITING

Virtually no manuscript is immediately ready for online publication or print, usually it needs professional services to become publishable. Our experienced team provides editorial services, adds graphics, inserts DOI and ISBN identifiers, checks and formats references, converts the files into standard formats such as XML and creates metadata.

ONLINE SYSTEMS

Sciendo delivers top online systems enabling the smooth and efficient publishing process of books, journals and conference proceedings.

We offer a choice of leading submission solutions that enhance manuscript management, production tracking systems that enable full control over the production process, and modules dedicated to reference cleanup and payments processing.

LONG-TERM PRESERVATION

Sciendo backs up your digital publications to ensure they remain available over the long term. The service includes monitoring, archiving, and management of the electronic titles stored on our servers.

DISTRIBUTION OF CONTENT TO LIBRARIES WORLDWIDE

A frequently overlooked problem is that content distribution to libraries regularly requires IP authorisation. We take care of this issue, ensuring distribution is truly global.

ABSTRACTING AND INDEXING

Just having an article or book published is not enough. The sheer number of publications available online makes discoverability an essential issue. In order to remedy this problem, Sciendo cooperates with the majority of indexing services (including Clarivate, Scopus and PubMed), using the XML metadata format to enable automatic data export to such sites.

Our experienced team is always ready to support you in your journey towards higher metrics, advising how to enhance the publication. For the most prestigious indexes, we have developed tools to pre-evaluate titles to assess whether they qualify for applications. Our specialists advise how to prepare publications according to the selection criteria, monitor the process of application, and inclusion upon acceptance.

PLAGIARISM

To prevent plagiarism, Sciendo offers plagiarism screening software free of charge.

PROFESSIONAL MARKETING

Sciendo provides marketing activities designed to improve the visibility of your publication, to raise its profile within the scholarly community and highlight the latest research results:

we offer dedicated mailing campaigns, such as a call for papers, book or conference announcements engage potential authors and readers through social media activities and microcampaigns provide PR services and more.
